2 Skiers Found

LONGMIRE, Wash. (AP)—Two Seattle skiers, lost on Mount Rainier since Sunday, were found "safe and sound" today. John Preston, park superintendent, announced. The men, George Zipp and Don Cronin, were met walking down a road at Laughing Water Creek by a National Park Service rescue party 2½ miles above Ohanapecosh ranger station.

3rd Air Incident

VIENNA (AP)—Two Russian fighters buzzed the personal plane of Gen. Mark W. Clark today as it was being flown from Vienna to Linz. This was the third incident involving Soviet fighters and U.S. planes in 10 days. Clark was not aboard his plane, a B-17 Flying Fortress. He made his third protest against the Russian activities when he learned of today's attack.

Gale Warning in North

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Weather Bureau here issued a gale warning today which said: "Strong southeasterly winds 25 m.p.h. over the Queen Charlotte and adjacent waters are expected to increase to gale force, reaching 35 to 40 m.p.h. in exposed areas this afternoon and evening and to veer to strong southwesterly 20 m.p.h. early Wednesday morning."

Violence Backs Arabs' Boycott Of Jewish Goods

JERUSALEM (Reuter)—The Arab boycott of Jewish goods in Palestine is not being fully observed, but it is reported here that already it has bounded at least two Arab merchants to death. The boycott was started in January as an economic weapon against Zionism. The main difficulty in enforcing it is that there are not enough Arab-manufactured goods available and an Arab shopkeeper who wants to stay in business must deal with the well-stocked warehouses in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Vancouver Wants War Taxes Ended

VANCOUVER (CP)—This city's council will ask the Dominion government to remove special war taxes as soon as possible and to prevent the British Columbia government from perpetuating them for its own benefit. A resolution passed Monday contends the reason for war taxes no longer exists but that there is a disposition to continue the levies. It refers to a bill passed by the B.C. Legislature which empowers the provincial government to impose a three-cent per-gallon gasoline tax and when the federal government rescinds its present three-cent war tax.

Jap Plotted to Kill MacArthur; Failed to Murder Accomplice

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. MacArthur was marked for assassination May Day—tomorrow—with hand grenades and pistols "some time during Communist demonstrations" near his headquarters, his office announced today. U.S. authorities learned of the assassination plot through one of the participants whom Hideo Tokayama, the accused but unapprehended leader, attempted to poison, said Brig. Gen. Frayne Baker, public relations officer for the Allied Supreme Commander. The Japanese government officially presented its apologies at Gen. MacArthur's office as reports of the plot—spreading like wildfire through Tokyo—stirred Japanese fears of harsher occupation policies. (Tokyo) (Thought Police) officer who later became a kamikaze (suicide) pilot, was known to possess grenades and pistols, Gen. Baker

80 Casualties, 8 Missing After Ship Explosions

EARLE, N.J. (AP)—Eight men were reported missing and 80 injured today after two explosions had rocked the destroyer escort Solar, which sank in lower New York Bay off the Earle Navy Depot. A navy spokesman here, who made the casualty estimate, said it was not complete. The wounded were taken to the Earle Depot post hospital and Fort Hancock Hospital, as well as to municipal hospitals in the area. The navy ship blew up as ammunition was being unloaded.

The 3rd Naval District headquarters in New York said most personnel got clear after an initial blast, which was moderate. A second explosion, the Naval District spokesman said, was of major violence and demolished a lighter across the pier, which extends out 2½ miles into the bay. Other vessels were hauled out into the bay. In Washington, the Navy Department said the Solar was assigned a month ago to the Operational Development Force, which tests new equipment and is based at Solomons Island, Md. The depot, built by the navy in 1943 at a cost of $60,000,000, is the largest in the eastern United States and has been continuing since the end of the war as a permanent naval installation.

The pier for loading and unloading is 2½ miles long and is the longest of its kind in the world. The depot had a storage capacity for 250,000 tons of ammunition. Year Since Hitler Reported Dead

NUERNBERG (AP)—Julius Streicher's charges that United States troops abused and humiliated him just after he had been captured were stricken from the international military tribunal's records today after Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson had protested they were irrelevant. A reminder that, a full year has passed since the supposed death of Hitler in a Reichschancellery bunker in Berlin came when Streicher's counsel introduced as evidence a portion of the Fuehrer's last political testament dated April 29, 1945. This was intended to prove, the mass execution of Jews originated exclusively with Hitler, who believed such slaughter should "expiate the death of millions of adult men and hundreds of thousands of women and children burned or bombed to death in cities."

U.N. Group Classes Some Evidence On Spain Too Secret To Be Published

NEW YORK (AP)—The first investigating subcommittee of the United Nations Security Council began compiling evidence in secrecy today to determine whether Franco Spain menaces the peace as charged by Poland. The investigators did not disclose the sources of documents on Spain which are classed as too confidential to be aired in public now, and there was no indication that Spain herself would offer any information. The subcommittee was named by the council on a ballot of 10 affirmative votes, with Russia abstaining. The Moscow radio Monday night said a signed draft of a secret protocol had been captured in the German foreign ministry during the battle of Berlin more than a year ago. The broadcast declared Russian troops captured documents showing Generalissimo Franco formulated a military alliance with Hitler in 1943 "and undertook at the appropriate moment to come out against the Allied armies." Authoritative quarters expected the subcommittee would report its findings to the council not later than May 31 and ask for further instructions if it considered an on-the-spot inquiry advisable.

Repatriation Slowdown Expected As Overseas Forces Dwindle

OTTAWA (CP)—Despite the fact the armed forces' repatriation and demobilization are ahead of schedule, officials say there is little likelihood the program will be completed before the deadline of October or November, with dependents repatriated by November or December. They explain a slowdown can be expected with the number of men overseas dwindling and the charge decreasing. This situation will have a tendency to cut down shipping allotments for repatriation and will have a consequent effect on discharges. "It is easier to get shipping for 100,000 men than for 10,000," an official said. Still left overseas April 13 were 1,908 navy personnel; 36,000 army and 7,600 R.C.A.F. Between VE-Day and April 13 the three services had returned to civilian life a total of 578,877 men, but there is no breakdown available showing how many of the total April 13 strength of 178,665 for all forces remain to be demobilized. The total strength of postwar forces is to be 51,600 men—10,000 navy, 25,000 army and 16,100 R.C.A.F.

Juveniles Named In $1,600 Theft From Saanich Home

Three juveniles will be charged by Saanich police in connection with the theft of $1,600 in cash from the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Cairns, 3923 Cumberland Road, during the week-end of April 13, it was learned today. Two of the juveniles are 15 years old and one 16 years. Their arrests followed two weeks of continued investigations by members of the municipal police force. The theft was reported April 16 when Mr. and Mrs. Cairns returned to their home after being away over the week-end. The money was taken from a trunk in an upstairs store room. The trunk had been forced open. Smaller amounts of money in the house were not stolen. Entrance to the house had been made through the basement. The Cairns had left the money in the trunk temporarily. Mrs. Cairns had just received it from a relative and was planning on using it to purchase some property. Police stated that only part of the money had been recovered.

The change in the offer would improve British Columbia's position by only $3,900,000. Meantime, Ontario and Quebec would enjoy improvements of $20,200,000 and $24,700,000, respectively.

Mr. Hart said British Columbia would have to appropriate $5,350,000 from former revenue surpluses to offset a deficit on current income in the present fiscal year. This would be necessary without taking into consideration the capital expenditures the province would be called upon to bear. "It is obvious... that ample revenues must be constantly at the disposal of provincial governments and that the source of these revenues be elastic enough to meet all contingencies," said Mr. Hart.

Tax Deadline Keeps Offices Here Busy

A steady stream of persons filing returns at the Income Tax offices in the Belmont Building continued here today rather than a queued last-minute rush. Concern has been forming before the offices during rush hours continued to stretch from the entrances across the hallway at certain periods as workers snatched a few minutes from their employment to file returns before the deadline. With the offices closing at 6 p.m., last chance for Victorians who had not filed their returns was to get them in the mail tonight so envelopes would be postmarked before midnight.

Ottawa Subsidy Must Equal Sum B.C. Would Levy

Premier John Hart of British Columbia said today his government was ready to give up the personal income and corporation tax fields for a three-year period providing the Dominion assures the province sufficient compensation in return. The sixth of the nine provincial premiers to express views at the plenary session of the Dominion-Provincial Conference in Ottawa, Mr. Hart said: "Briefly our position is that we will recommend for a three-year trial period that the province refrain from imposing income and corporation taxes, provided we are compensated by a sum equal to what we would collect if again we impose similar taxes to what were in force previous to the war tax agreement. "The alternative to this is that we proceed to collect income and corporation taxes at rates current before the war. Should we be obliged to do this, the Dominion government, by the terms of the present tax agreements, must reduce their taxes accordingly, but not exceeding 10 per cent on corporation incomes."

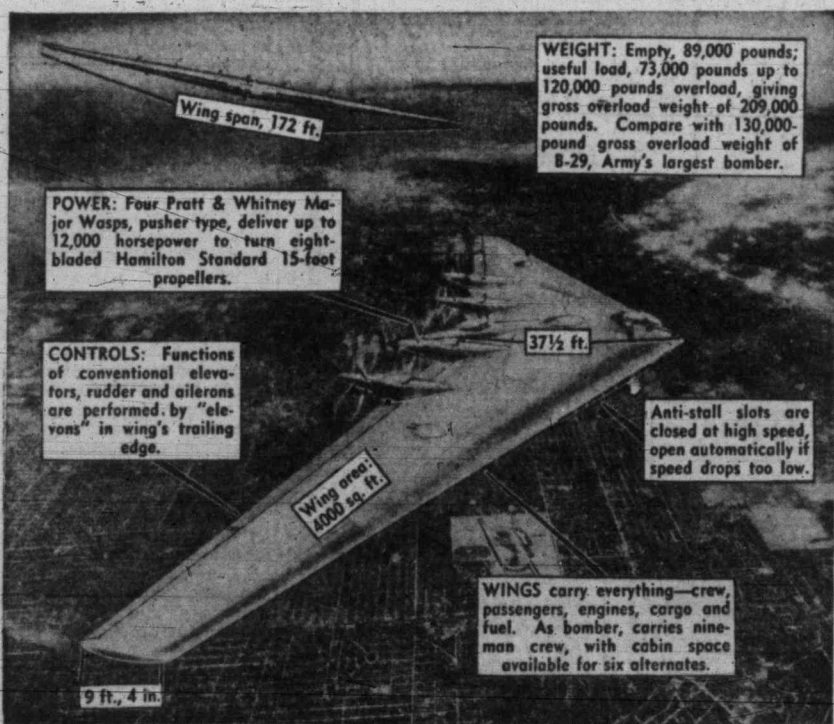

"Consequently, our re-entry into these taxing fields would not mean increased taxes for the taxpayers. Should this step be necessary he would ask the Dominion government to collect the taxes on our account so that there would only be one collecting agency." "If there were 'general unanimity,' British Columbia would be willing also to consider foregoing succession duties for a three-year period, he said. Mr. Hart asked that the Dominion give further consideration to giving up taxes on gasoline, pari-mutuels, amusement and certain other revenues. The federal offer not to increase taxes in those fields during the term of a three-year agreement did not go far enough, he said. "Without naming any per capita figure which would be acceptable to British Columbia, Mr. Hart gave these five conditions as the desirable basis for any financial arrangements: 1. The arrangement should be capable of implementation without amendment of the British North America Act. 2. In any transfer of provincial tax fields to the Dominion the compensation to be paid to a province in any year should never be less than the field which the affected provincial taxes would have produced, if they had been levied by that province, at the tax rates in force when the arrangement was signed, or when the province last collected the tax. 3. That any financial arrangement should provide for a thorough review of the agreement, and its possible amendment or cancellation at the end of three years. 4. That where financial transfers from the Dominion to the provinces are provided, the payments should be determined by an objective formula which may be applied to any or all provinces. 5. That where financial transfers from the Dominion to the provinces are concerned, wherever necessary, suitable arrangements should be made to compensate for variations in the price-level and changes in the population.

Existing Subsidies Must Stand

He felt existing statutory subsidies should be left untouched in any general readjustment. There were claims British Columbia would obtain favored treatment under the proposed federal subsidies as modified last January when the Dominion offered to boost its per capita subsidy from $12 to $15. The change in the offer would improve British Columbia's position by only $3,900,000. Meantime, Ontario and Quebec would enjoy improvements of $20,200,000 and $24,700,000, respectively. Mr. Hart said British Columbia would have to appropriate $5,350,000 from former revenue surpluses to offset a deficit on current income in the present fiscal year. This would be necessary without taking into consideration the capital expenditures the province would be called upon to bear. "It is obvious... that ample revenues must be constantly at the disposal of provincial governments and that the source of these revenues be elastic enough to meet all contingencies," said Mr. Hart.

1 Missing in Fire At Fisheries Plant; Loss $100,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—One man is missing in a fire which today swept the Mingo plant of Nelson Brothers Fisheries on the south side of the Fraser River 10 miles west of New Westminster causing loss estimated at $100,000. Hillary T. Roberts, net foreman, who normally slept in the plant, could not be found after the fire was brought under control. The blaze started in the net loft. New Westminster firemen battled for four hours before gaining control. Damage was confined to the net loft housing canned herring, nets and gear. The main plant building was untouched. A search of the ruins is being made for Roberts. Officials said that $100,000 was a conservative estimate of the loss. Destroyed nets are replaceable.

DETAILS OF GIANT PLANE DISCLOSED—Pictograph above shows salient points of the U.S. army's latest secret "Flying Wing," officially designated as the XB-24 Liberator. In construction since early 1943, the plane has been completed at Northrop Aircraft's Hawthorne, Calif., plant. Designed as a bombardment-type plane of extraordinary range and heavy load capacity, it may now be adopted as cargo plane.

NANAIMO (CP)—Edward Gibson, 69, Nanaimo old-timer who opened the liquor store here, died Monday in hospital after a long illness.

Born in the heart of the business district, near where the Gibson Block now stands, he worked underground in the old No. 1 Mine and in Protection Mine before receiving the government appointment.

Pioneering Prairie Newspaperman E. H. Macklin, Dies In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dean of prairie Canadian journalism, whose name has become legend across the Dominion, E. H. Macklin, 83, died at his home in Brentwood Lodge here today.

Known as the father of co-operative news-gathering in Canada, and president and general manager of the Winnipeg Free Press, Mr. Macklin had been ill for some time.

After 56 years in newspaper work, he retired from the Free Press in 1935, and two years later announced his retirement from the board of the Canadian Press, Canada's co-operative news-gathering association, of which he was one of the founders.

A striking figure, with his sweeping white moustache and small, pointed beard, and wide-brimmed black hat at a rakish angle, Mr. Macklin had an international association in journalism, widely known in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom.

He started his career in Toronto in 1879, and came to Winnipeg in 1900 when the prairies were turning from the early ox-cart days, and with the late J. W. Daffoe, famed Free Press editor, shared in the development of the Free Press, bringing many innovations to western newspaper life.

No Blame Attached In Tunnel Accident

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—No blame has been assessed in the accidental deaths of James J. Orr and Joe Bodnar, killed early Saturday when a Canadian Pacific freight train struck a 21-man extra gang on three handcars, traveling through a tunnel 12 miles west of here.

A two-hour inquiry conducted by Coroner J. S. Burris brought a verdict of "accidental death," with the jury declaring "There is no blame attached to anyone."

Paul J. Sharpe, telegrapher here, testified he had failed to mention the departure of a train half-an-hour before when he gave an informal "line-up" of train movements to B. Fredbeck, gang foreman, 15 minutes before the fatality.

The coroner's jury recommended that "no railway employee should be permitted to proceed to or from their work on any form of mechanical transport unless they have been supplied with an official schedule of all trains from the responsible official."

The four injured members of the extra gang are making "good progress" in hospital. None is severely injured.

Provinces Lack Direct Taxation Priority, Says Manitoba Premier

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Stuart Garson of Manitoba today told the Dominion-Provincial Conference he could not agree with Ontario and Quebec that the provinces have a priority in the field of direct taxation.

Resuming a speech he began Monday, Mr. Garson said the Ontario and Quebec claim of provincial priority in the field of direct taxation was "contradicted by history," was "wholly incorrect in law" and was "unsound in economics."

The Manitoba premier said he was anxious to clear up the "falsity" of provincial rights in the direct taxation.

"If this priority really exists all the provinces would need to do would be to insist politely that the Dominion repeal its direct tax legislation so the provinces could step in with direct tax increases equal to the rates repealed by the Dominion; and the job would be done."

"If we think that this is what will happen if we fail to reach an agreement, we shall certainly delude ourselves. The test of whether the provinces have priority is whether we can successfully attack the federal direct tax laws in the court, upon the ground that they are beyond the powers of the Dominion to enact. Even those who say the provinces have priority, know that this is impossible."

"Does anyone in this conference, after due reflection, think that if the Dominion were to get out of the field of direct taxes and recover its huge revenue requirements from indirect taxation, that we would have anything but unemployment and depression which is being urged on the basis of an argument which is 'unsound both historically and legally.'"

B.C. Aid For Fair At Toronto Sought

The B.C. cabinet will shortly discuss an appropriation to the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto or to assist in paying transportation costs for B.C. livestock exhibits to the fair, it was learned today.

William Dryden, general manager of the fair, the largest of its kind in Canada and considered by some as the top-ranking exhibition on the continent, was in Victoria at the week-end meeting of officials of the Department of Agriculture and Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney in the absence of Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam. Mr. Dryden was seeking a contribution by the province to the fair or to the transportation costs to exhibitors.

The Dominion government and several other provinces make contributions to the fair which will be held for the first time since the war next Nov. 12. Beside a donation, the Dominion government pays 75 per cent of cost of transporting the stock.

Mr. Dryden said he was especially interested in obtaining a good stock entry.

"This is a first-class area for producing high-class, purebred breeding animals," he said. "It has the climate, the soil and the men who know their work."

3-Month Log Scale Increases in B.C.

An increase by 56,154,331 to 627,984,350 l.b.m. in the amount of timber scaled in British Columbia during the first quarter of this year was reported today in the report of C. D. Orchard, deputy forests minister for the B.C. government.

Totals for the quarter are as follows, with the corresponding figures for 1945 in brackets: Total l.b.m. 627,984,350 (571,830,019), lineal footage 11,881,116 (3,991,271), cord measurement 39,301 (30,640), and hewn ties 169,823 (120,123).

Similar figures for March are: Total l.b.m. 253,330,412 (211,292,141), lineal footage 3,596,954 (575,031), cord measurement 13,623 (12,118), and hewn ties 20,490 (34,975).

Nanaimo to Purchase Chlorination Plant

NANAIMO (CP)—The city council Monday night voted to buy the water chlorination plant installed here by the Dominion government as a wartime health measure.

The equipment is expected to cost around $1,767, and payment will be conditional upon a deferred payment basis.

The federal government has agreed to operate the plant for the balance of the year or until such time as council wishes to discontinue chlorination.

Marooned By Storm

NANAIMO (CP)—Marooned on two bare rocks north of here for 36 hours, two young fishermen of Lantzville—Robert Vansickle and Douglas Dixon—are catching up on sleep and food.

They put out in their 13-foot rowboat on a fishing trip from Lantzville expecting to return five hours later. Exhausted and ravenous, they nosed their rowboat back on Lantzville beach 36 hours later.

They were trolling when a southeasterly wind whipped into gale proportions and they were forced to head for Ada Island and later Maude Island.

BUTTER EXTENDERS

Here are two methods of extending butter. Once extended, it may be used as a spread and in seasoning cooked vegetables. It is not useable as a baking shortening for cakes and pastries, nor as a frying fat.

GELATIN METHOD

Stretching 1/4 pound of butter to 1/2 pound of spread

1 tsp. unflavoured gelatin (Knox)
1 tsp. cold water
1/4 lb. of butter
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/4 tsp. salt

Soften gelatin in cold water, dissolve thoroughly over warm water. Cut butter into small pieces and heat over hot water until soft enough to beat, but do not melt butter. Add dissolved gelatin and salt to the milk, have the milk at room temperature. Gradually whip milk into butter with a Dover eggbeater or an electric mixer until milk does not separate. Add colouring if desired. Pack in refrigerator in a dish or container until hard. Keep in refrigerator when not in use.

MILK AND BUTTER BLENDED

1/2 lb. of softened (not melted) butter
1/2 cup evaporated or top fresh milk
Add 1/2 cup of milk to the 1/2 pound of softened butter, having both ingredients at room temperature. Beat ingredients together slowly with Dover eggbeater or electric mixer. Continue beating until milk does not separate from butter. Add extra salt to taste and colouring may be added to this mixture if desired. Place in mold in refrigerator until hard. Store in refrigerator when not in use.

Eire's Use of Irish Language Dwindles

DUBLIN (CP)—Sad news for lovers of the native Irish brogue is that its use is dwindling despite all efforts of the government to stimulate it.
The Daily heard Prime Minister de Valera admit as much. He told members influences against the language—radio, newspapers and movies—were strong, but must be faced.
Education Minister Derrig then followed him to review the situation, after which the House agreed to an opposition motion calling for an annual report on the extent of the Irish-speaking districts and the position of the language in them.
Mr. Derrig said people in Irish-speaking areas were conscious of the fact they were living in poor and barren districts and might have to leave them for economic reasons. Therefore they found it essential to know English.
Mr. de Valera said that in Eire the majority of the people spoke English as their ordinary language. Through schools the government was trying to produce a generation in which the Irish language would be spoken as a vernacular throughout the country, although this, certainly did not rule out the use of any other language.

'Double Depreciation' Extended By Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The "double depreciation" plan of assisting industries in reconversion programs has been extended to March 31, 1948, Reconstruction Minister Howe announced Monday.
The plan, which came into effect Nov. 10, 1944, was scheduled to expire Dec. 31, 1946. It provides that manufacturers and other industries desiring to extend their plants or add new equipment to fit themselves for peacetime production may seek a certificate which, if approved, permits them to claim up to double normal depreciation for taxation purposes. Applications for certificates must be made before March 31, 1947.

The smashing victory of Germany's new political party, the Christian Social Union, in the county council elections in the American zone, should be recognized for what it really is—a triumph of Christian principles over the evils of Hitlerism which still tear at the vitals of the Reich.

This political development is doubly important because Germany is not the only country in Europe which has lost its moral grip as a result of the war. The striking success of the Christian Social Union in Germany, which is the centre of the plague, gives hope that there may be a resurgence of morality in the affected areas of the distressed continent.

I encountered this politico-religious movement when I was in Germany two months ago. It was getting well under way then and represented the combination which its name indicates.

The plague of Hitlerism can only be eradicated by moral rehabilitation. You can keep the malefactors quiet by armed might, and you may achieve the vital demilitarization of Germany through a four-power 25-year mutual assistance pact such as now is proposed, but you can't reform the Nazis that way. Reform must come through a change of heart.

The Christian Social Union represents people who subscribe to the tenets of Christianity. It isn't a question of denomination—Catholics and Protestants—and undoubtedly any others who subscribe to his code of right—have joined hands, and the whole emphasis is laid on the Christian principles.

Military authorities in both the American and the British zones are utilizing fully the efforts of these workers for moral rehabilitation.

Hitler deliberately set out to debase his people, and he succeeded with a huge section of them, but obviously there were many staunch citizens whom he did not corrupt, and they now form the nucleus of the army of moral rehabilitation.

Citizenship Bill Before House For Clause-By-Clause Study

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Citizenship Bill was given further detailed study in the Commons today.

The bill passed second reading Tuesday without a vote and went before a committee of the whole House for a clause-by-clause study.

When the House rose Monday night two of the 47 sections had been passed. Questions by members in the committee brought from State Secretary Martin, sponsor of the bill, renewed assurance that no change in the Election Act was contemplated to restrict the franchise to persons who qualified as Canadian citizens.

He said certificates confirming their citizenship would be available to British subjects who automatically qualified for Canadian citizenship by residence in Canada when the act comes into effect.

Mr. Martin, winding up the debate on second reading, said the bill did not remove "one lot of the rights and privileges" enjoyed by British subjects living in Canada.

NEW UNITY

He said the bill was aimed at creating a sense of "unity and oneness" in Canada and at more clearly defining citizenship.

He noted some opposition members had objected to a requirement that British subjects seeking to become Canadian citizens go through the same procedure as other aliens, including a wait of five years' residence.

Actually, however, the bill did not change the status of British subjects. They still would have the right to vote, own property, apply for old age pensions, and enter the civil service. The bill merely "regulated" the method of becoming a Canadian.

There was no change from the existing law so far as British subjects becoming Canadian citizens was concerned. At one time Canadian law had provided for attaining citizenship in two years, but it was found that term was insufficient to determine whether a person was in good physical and mental health and able to main-

Christian Social Union Wins Country Elections in Germany

FRANKFURT (AP)—Germany's fast-growing new political party, the right-of-centre Christian Social Union, won an overwhelming victory in county council elections in the United States occupation zone, marred by rioting and pro-Nazi activity.

Conservative rural voters gave the church-supported party almost a two-to-one lead over its nearest rival, the slightly left-wing Social Democrats.

The Communist Party polled a bare 5.4 per cent of the 3,126,347 votes cast Sunday in the second free election in the area in 13 years.

While 6,043 elected county officials took their seats in rural councils Monday, four U.S. army agencies were investigating a street battle between German voters and more than 5,000 Jewish displaced persons at Dissen in Bavaria.

Six persons were reported still in hospital out of 13 treated for stab wounds and beatings in the riot which finally was quelled by American soldiers.

Counter-espionage agents were probing the appearance of Nazi swastikas in another Bavarian town and the setting fire to a Communist meeting hall.

Housing Authority Centralized in Howe

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King tabled Monday in the Commons an order-in-council centralizing authority in housing under Reconstruction Minister Howe.

Previously Mr. Howe's jurisdiction included Wartime Housing Ltd.—the government company engaged in housing construction—while Finance Minister (Healey) had under his control the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, which supervises house construction financing and emergency shelter regulations. That corporation in future will report to Mr. Howe.

Activities of house construction under the Veterans' Land Act, under Veterans' Minister MacKenzie, will be co-ordinated with the general housing program under Mr. Howe.

Quadruple Wedding

DETROIT (AP)—Four sisters spoke their marriage vows in rapid succession at St. George Syrian Orthodox Church here Monday. Very Rev. Benjamin T. EMM, who officiated, said the quadruple wedding was unprecedented in the marriage annals of the United States and probably the world.

DIFFERENTIATION

Gordon Graydon, Prog. Cons., Peel, Ont., had advanced the proposal when he took part in the debate on second reading. The debate resulted in renewed discussion of whether the regulations laying down requirements for citizenship should differentiate between persons who were British subjects when they came to Canada and others.

Jean Francois, Pouliot, Ind., Lib., Temiscouata, Que., took the position there was no contradiction in a Canadian being anti-British. It did not follow that because one was a Canadian citizen he was a British subject as the bill said.

Mr. Pouliot said the Citizenship Bill and the steps to select a distinctive Canadian flag were useless unless Canadians became imbued with a Canadian spirit, which was sorely needed in Canada.

Norman Jaques, S.C., Wetaskiwin, Alta., took objection to the clause that stated British subjects had to wait for years after entering Canada before they could obtain citizenship.

COLDWELL'S OPINION

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, suggested a distinction might be made between persons who came from countries with a language and traditions similar to Canada and those from other lands who would need longer to acclimatize themselves. "Canadians should be subjects of 'the King in the Right of Canada'."

Dealing with another section which states that a Canadian citizen is a British subject, State Secretary Martin said this did not mean that a Canadian citizen was a subject of Britain.

"The citizens of Canada are subject to no government outside of Canada," he emphasized. At the same time, it was beyond doubt that a Canadian citizen was a subject of the King and it would be a "rash man" who would suggest that a Canadian would be less loyal as a Canadian citizen than as a British subject.

Churchill Portrait Bought For $25,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Presidential adviser Bernard Baruch has purchased for $25,000 the portrait of Winston Churchill recently painted by Douglas Chander, the artist said Monday.

The portrait is a study to be incorporated in Mr. Chander's group painting of the "Big Three" at Yalta, originally commissioned by the late President Roosevelt and recommissioned by President Truman.

Tojo, 26 Others Indicted By Allies

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's warlord Hideki Tojo and 27 other militaristic leaders were indicted by the Allies Monday as war criminals. They will be arraigned May 3 on 55 specific charges ranging from murder of thousands of Allied personnel to conspiracy to hammer the whole world into slave states of the Axis.

Defence counsel are expected to be given reasonable time to prepare their cases before trials begin before an 11-country tribunal.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's method of grain control is "perhaps the best of any country I know," Fiorello LaGuardia, director-general of Unrra, said Monday night in a broadcast over a CBC national network.

In the capital to attend a regular meeting of the permanent Joint Defence Board, Mr. LaGuardia said he had called on Prime Minister King and "expressed thanks to him and through him to the people of Canada" for their contributions and assistance.

Hitler Letters Found

PARIS (Reuter)—Secret letters written by Hitler and other important documents were found in an Allied treasure hunt in the Black Forest. It was learned Monday when a small chest, unearthed at Ehrsbeek, near Baden, was opened.
Object of the hunt was money alleged to have been hidden by Otto Abetz, Hitler's ambassador in Paris, now awaiting trial. However, no Abetz treasures were found when the investigating magistrate supervised the opening of the chest.

BANKING IN ACTION is manifested in the crash of falling trees; in the rush of logs, as the lumberjacks break the jam and speed the timber on its way; in the scream of saws, as busy mills convert it into planks, beams and scantlings. Logging and lumbering provide work and wages for thousands—in the woods, the mills, the construction industry. The stream of wealth thus flowing across Canada is an example of Banking in Action.

OUT IN THE OPEN AT OTTAWA

UNTIL THE PREMIERS OF ALL THE provinces have had time to consider the various proposals which Mr. Mackenzie King presented to the first public session of the Dominion-Provincial parley in Ottawa yesterday, any speculation as to their acceptance or rejection would be wasted effort. Mr. Hart had nothing to say for publication at the end of the first day of these plenary proceedings; but it is suggested that the British Columbia delegates do not consider the issue of succession duties is an insurmountable one. That this point is likely to be a highly important determining factor, however, is borne out by the statement delivered by the Premier of Ontario.

One of the points Mr. King made in this respect was that if a province wished to continue to levy succession duties, the succession duty amounts payable by a taxpayer to that province would be treated as a credit to the taxpayer against amounts due the Dominion succession duty. This credit would be limited, however, to the amount which would have been payable to that province under its 1946 succession duty rates and conditions of liability. The total annual payments to the province, by the Dominion, under the agreement would be reduced by the amount of such credits.

The burden of the argument Mr. Drew advanced in support of his province's desire to regain the succession duty revenue was that of the $37,000,000 which the Dominion had collected from this source in its four years of wartime collection, Ontario had supplied no less than $17,000,000. But if the Premier sought to make out by this recital that continued collection of the succession duty was relatively unimportant from the standpoint of future returns to the Dominion, he did not take into account the intention—or at least the prospect—of the federal authorities to increase the volume of contributions to the national exchequer from this source. And would not this be one way of assisting the Dominion in its expressed desire to lower the taxes imposed on the incomes of the "little people"?

What is of supreme importance to the general public of Canada, of course, is that an agreement be reached with as little delay as possible. Whether it be for a period of three years in which full play can be given for the trial-and-error policy, or whether there is the prospect for a plan promising more permanence for solution of the outstanding problems that are plaguing the conferees, the urgency for a "now deal" is reflected in the difficulty which the lesser governing bodies of Canada are experiencing in the earmarking of funds for projects inherently part and parcel of the national transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy.

MAY DAY

THOUGHTFUL LABOR MEN, AND CONDITIONS should make them all thoughtful, will give heed tomorrow to the vast responsibilities they have assumed in a world which depends so largely on them for the reshaping of civilization at this dawn of a new day. Already the complexities of the postwar era have brought them a measure of confusion which, without study, will be worse confounded. On the first May Day observance since the end of hostilities, they will take stock of their position, reconcile their personal desires with the needs not only of their own country but of the world in general—and unless we misunderstand the fundamental sanity of their outlook—make their plans for the future on the broad understanding not only of the progress they have made to date but on steady advances that may be achieved through adherence to sound policies.

The responsibility for continually rising standards and for continually increased production does not, of course, rest solely on labor. Management must do its share. The extent to which that point is recognized was indicated yesterday by Mr. A. P. Young of the British Ministry of Information, in his address to the Canadian Club. Said he:

"The world of industry is now the dynamic centre of life. Nothing is of greater importance than bringing about better management."

He amplified his statement with a call for application of democratic principles in management and pointed to the necessity of action by the "industrial team, from the highest to the lowest level, striving to secure maximum service to the consumer. Quality, price and timing must be integrated with the elevation of labor's social condition."

These are factors which will occupy the minds of labor on May Day. Its members will weigh them as they contemplate future efforts to increase income in the various trades and will balance the prospective results of pressure for higher wages against correlated increases in price. As responsible men, respected in their communities; they will not ignore the broader aspects of the problem. There will be less occasion for inflammatory speeches and more reason for considered analysis of labor issues than there has been for some years.

LOOSER THE BETTER

IN CONTRAST TO THE YORKSHIRE

Post's hope that the meeting of Commonwealth Prime Ministers would "point the way towards agreement on and maintenance of a truly imperial world policy." The Times of London yesterday discussed the subject of defence and expressed the view that "a rigid centralized organism" was not desirable. On the contrary, it argues that, "in the long run, a looser network of joint staffs is more likely to prove satisfactory and to stand the strains that may be imposed upon it."

In other words, concludes the great London daily, "integration must now be sought more and more through devolution."

As we observed in these columns a week ago, any proposal at this late stage in the development of the British Commonwealth either for "a centralized organism of defence control in London" or for a common Empire foreign policy would meet with little or no support in any of the overseas Dominion capitals. As far as Ottawa is concerned, of course, the idea of imperial federation was frowned upon from the day of its conception at the close of the last century. And while there is a difference between purely military and purely political considerations, any proposal for rigid or central control is not likely to be popular in Canada.

In other words, The Times of London is on sound ground when it argues that the future defence of the British Commonwealth and Empire must be based on policies which recognize the inevitability of devolutionary processes. The history of the self-governing British nations in two world wars furnishes compelling evidence of the strength of the "looser network" when the interests of all the component parts of the Empire are threatened.

URGENT IN B.C.

TO ABSORB THE VASTLY EXPANDED population British Columbia attracted during the war years and will hold through its climatic and other amenities, new industrial development is a paramount essential. In its establishment, moreover, it must include a diversified group of enterprises which will provide gainful employment not only in the more urban districts, but also in those less developed regions where raw materials are readily available and the opportunity presents itself for the expansion of existing communities.

In view of the desirability of decentralization, it is encouraging to hear the opinion of British Columbia's new Minister of Trade and Industries, Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, who has stated that new, smaller enterprises will be given the closest attention by the government. The desirability of fostering their growth was clearly indicated in the collection of data for the reconstruction and rehabilitation report compiled under the chairmanship of Mr. H. G. T. Perry. On fact-finding tours by its membership, brief brief emphasized the necessity of such action to bring a greater measure of stability to outlying centres and to assure their progressive development.

Furthermore, the policy announced by Mr. Eyres will be noted with satisfaction by those young men returned from the forces who are now sizing up the ground for initiation of new industrial ventures. Any assistance, governmental or otherwise, given to them will be generally applauded.

PERON REVILES HITLER!

DOWN IN BUENOS AIRES THE OTHER day, President-elect Juan Peron referred to the late and unlamented Adolf Hitler as a "brown beast" and then promised Argentina's co-operation in helping to feed hungry millions. The erstwhile imitator of both Mussolini and the German Fuehrer added significantly—and commendably—that:

"We will do everything in our power to ease the burden of our European brothers and if that is not enough, we are ready to make additional sacrifices when human suffering is at stake."

It is a commonplace to say that office usually mellow: the politically ambitious. Victory at the polls last February may have given Col. Peron a new outlook. Time will tell. For the time being, however, it may be as well to remember the warning about the Greeks "bearing gifts." Yet the Argentine President-elect has a great opportunity to serve the cause of peaceful progress in his own country—and to wield a beneficial influence throughout the whole of Latin America.

The fate which overtook his European mentors should be a lesson to Col. Peron. His political success, regardless of the mechanics of its achievement, ought not to delude him. Uneasy lie the heads of the world's remaining dictators.

KNOW YOUR FORESTS

PULP AND PAPER COMPANIES throughout Canada recognize the importance of enlightened public opinion in developing a long-term forest program that will be of maximum value to the country. Some of these companies realize that the necessary education can be undertaken most effectively close to home.

For that reason at least one pulp and paper company here on the Pacific coast has initiated a forestry association of its own. The basic idea behind this move is that the people who derive their livelihood from the forest should know about the forest—and the means that must be employed to make it a perpetual source of wealth.

At Powell River, where one of Canada's largest paper mills is situated, the local forestry association has appealed for membership from all sections of the community. A bank manager, for instance, is the chairman, and neighborhood storekeepers and business men serve on its committees. This is good business from every standpoint.

Landmark In U.S.

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON.

IT WILL BE SAID that the passing of United States Chief Justice Stone is, figuratively, a landmark; and decidedly it is. If the marker were a literal one, it might be a monument—it should by all means be of granite—having half a dozen sides, or more, on each an inscription epitomizing what the death of Mr. Stone signifies or symbolizes.

One inscription might be a fact which as a detail of history is simple, but in its significance reaches far back and far forward. Harlan Stone was the last justice who had been appointed before the New Deal. Of the eight who now remain, seven were appointed by President Roosevelt, one by President Truman.

Another inscription might call attention to the passing of any notion that the Supreme Court should be bi-partisan. Of the eight justices now remaining, seven belong to the party of the Presidents who appointed them. All that were appointed by President Roosevelt were members of his party, and, in varying degrees, adherents to his New Deal school of thought. Only one Republican is now on the court, Justice Burton, appointed by President Truman.

ANOTHER INSCRIPTION might note the completeness of the departure from the past that has been made by the court as recently constituted, a departure not merely from past precedents but almost from the very notion that there should be any such thing as an authoritative body of precedent at all. This inscription need involve no difficulty of writing. It could merely quote words by a justice who left the court during the past year, Mr. Owen J. Roberts: "The tendency to disregard precedents has been so strong in this court of late as to shock confidence in the consistency of decisions, and leave the courts below on an uncharted sea of doubt and difficulty, without any confidence that what was said yesterday will hold good tomorrow." Or, if for the limited space a monument permits, a briefer quotation were desired, it could be found in the periodical Time, June 9, 1941: "... no longer could any precedent established before March, 1937, be relied on as a clue to the future."

THERE COULD be several other inscriptions, all expressing public and historical aspects of Justice Stone's passing. The largest space on the monument should be reserved for Mr. Stone's life and personality and background. While this would be personal it would also have public significance, for it would bear out what was said by one who shared Mr. Stone's New England background, Emerson's observation that institutions are the shadows of men. In Justice Stone's case this was especially true, for the kind of man he was had direct relation to the fierce struggle between contending ideas in which he had a part.

He represented a type of person, and way of life, and a philosophy about government and society that was once dominant in America. It was much the same as that of the President who saw his worth and appointed him to the court—in many details of background and ideas Justice Stone and Calvin Coolidge were kin. The stock Mr. Stone came from was old New England, his earliest American ancestor came from England on the ship Increase in 1685.

CONTINUOUS with this ancestral derivation and the traits of the early immigrants to New England, was his personal career—birth on a New Hampshire hillside farm, hard work and scanty means as a youth, determined search for self-improvement, education acquired by personal sacrifice, an early experience as a teacher in an old New England town, Newburyport, Massachusetts. Through it all, reliance upon self, a personal view and way of life which held that the individual should depend upon himself; and, accompanying dependence upon self, acceptance of responsibility for self, holding that the individual should neither look to government for largesse, nor permit government to intrude upon his liberty and independence.

His traits of mind, with his intellectual integrity, made him a dissenter. In the court as it was when he went upon it in 1925 he was a dissenter from an attitude which, he felt, assumed for the court too exclusive a guardianship for the constitution. Mr. Stone held that Congress had equal responsibility, hence that the court should respect an act of Congress unless there were compelling constitutional reasons to the contrary.

THIS COURSE LED Mr. Stone to dissent from a decision by the old court which voided a key New Deal measure, the Agricultural Adjustment Act. That dissent commended him to President Roosevelt and almost certainly entered into Mr. Stone's willingness to elevate Mr. Stone to the Chief Justiceship. By that time, 1941, a majority of the court were appointees of Mr. Roosevelt. But Mr. Stone continued to express, with rugged outspokenness, the philosophy and views that were native to him.

As a biologist I deplore the diversion of tens of thousands of competent scientists and such large fortunes in human toil for devising better ways to kill and injure our fellow men, better ways to waste and destroy our natural resources by war, because the frontiers of biology and medicine are still so vast.—Dr. Anton J. Carlson, retiring president American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Victoria Women Welcome Liberal Leader

Mrs. John Hart, wife of the Premier of British Columbia, extreme left, was among those present Monday afternoon to welcome Mrs. S. C. Tweed, vice-president of the National Liberal Federation, seated, and Miss Lucie Mesnard, also of Ottawa, extreme right. Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, wife of the M.P. for Victoria, is second from right.

"There will never be permanent peace in the world, until there are more women in the parliaments of the world," was the opinion expressed by Mrs. S. C. Tweed, assistant director of the National Liberal Federation, and in charge of women's work, at a meeting Monday afternoon. Over 250 members and friends of the Victoria Women's Liberal Association gathered in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel to hear Mrs. Tweed.

"Are we ready to assume the responsibilities thinking men will be placing on the women within the next few years?" Mrs. Tweed queried. "If we are really interested in peace, we will want to know our responsibilities to our country. We will have the courage to be interested in politics and to be interested in the kind of a country our children and our grandchildren will grow up in. We will study the problems of other countries and we will want to know exactly to what our government has committed us in its dealings with other countries."

Mrs. Tweed spoke of Liberalism and the challenge of peace, saying that surely the principles of liberalism are the answer to this challenge. Access of all nations to necessary materials, freedom of a way of life and the betterment of the lives of all the peoples of the world were quoted by the Liberal leader as the principles of Liberalism, which she said were the solution to destruction.

"Surely our task today is the task of peace and its continuance in Canada and throughout the world," Mrs. Tweed concluded. Introduced by Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., Mrs. Tweed was accompanied by Miss Lucie Mesnard, assistant to the director of the women's division of the federation. Miss Mesnard, a native of St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., specializes in educational work of the federation for the French-speaking women of Quebec and the other provinces.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Blair Reid, Mrs. J. L. Gates, Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. Earl Pollock and Mrs. H. I. McKenzie.

Later, tea was served from a long table centred with spring floral arrangement. Presiding at the tea table were Mesdames J. L. Gates, J. de Blauvere, J. Slater, J. Carver, Clifford Johns, A. Order Investigation Of Army Seizure Of Topaz Fire Hose

City solicitor A. J. Patton was instructed by Monday's City Council meeting to make a thorough investigation and find out on whose authority soldiers, driving an army truck, removed fire hose and reels from Topaz Apartments, which were former army hutmments.

Lands Commissioner M. K. Crockett informed the council that ex-Ald. T. W. Hawkins, then chairman of the housing committee, had signed for the fire hose, together with the hutmments and other equipment, on behalf of the city at the time they were taken over by the city for conversion into housing units last year.

Several times since, Maj. Crockett reported to the council, efforts had been made to obtain the fire hose and reels but he had refused to release them without orders from the council, suggesting to the army authorities that they make application to the council for the equipment.

Last week, Sam Watt, a civilian employee of the R.C.E., and two soldiers in an army truck came and took the hose and reels.

Mayor Percy George characterized it as a "very serious matter" which should be investigated.

Ald. H. M. Diggon moved the resolution authorizing the investigation, and urging that a "vigorous protest be made to the army authorities for their high handed action in taking equipment without permission."

Ald. R.A.C. Dewar, chairman of the housing committee, which administers the apartments, was insistent that the matter be cleared up as speedily as possible, pointing out that there is other equipment and supplies at the hutmments needed in the conversion and he did not like the idea of the army summarily seizing anything it felt it might like after the property had been assigned to the city.

Chlorination Referendum Turned Down By Council

An effort to have the chlorination issue submitted to the electorate at the December elections in the form of a referendum, while the matter of purchasing the chlorination plant was tabled until the vote was known, was defeated at Monday's city council meeting by a vote of six to five.

Those standing by earlier resolution of council to continue chlorination and negotiate with the federal government for the purchase of the equipment and buildings, estimated to have a value of more than $40,000, were Ald. Edward Williams, Ald. J. A. Worthington, Ald. D. D. McTavish, Ald. J. D. Hunter, Ald. F. G. Mulliner, and Ald. R. A. C. Dewar.

Favoring the hoist of the purchase question and the putting of the referendum were Mayor Percy George, Ald. B. J. Gadsden, Ald. H. M. Diggon, Ald. Margaret D. Christie, and Ald. W. L. Morgan.

The proposition advanced by Ald. Worthington, chairman of the water board, who had been conferring with R. E. Curran, representative of the Department of National Health, on terms of purchase was that the city should offer $6,887 for the equipment and buildings, and that the federal government be asked to bear costs of chlorination until March 1, 1947.

It is understood from a wire received from R. W. Mayhew, M.P., that the federal authorities are prepared to accept the price and willing to bear costs of chlorinating the water until Dec. 1, 1946.

MONEY BY-LAW

Ald. Diggon suggested that as the question of spending money had arisen the matter should be placed before the electors in the form of a money by-law, when the other money by-laws were submitted. This would relieve the council of the unpleasant task of coming to a decision on the highly controversial matter he indicated.

"The people have a right to say if the equipment should be bought or not," he declared.

Ald. Williams again took up the cudgels in defence of continuing chlorination of the city water as a protective measure, marshalling all his arguments that he advanced when the council voted in favor of chlorination two meetings previously. He insisted that the council members had no right to "pass the buck" to the electorate every time they hit a knotty or controversial question. "We were elected to do the city's business, and we should be men and women enough to stand on our own feet and do the job," he declared.

FOR INSURANCE

Ald. F. G. Mulliner favored the purchase of the equipment if only as an insurance measure to be on hand whenever danger to the water threatened. He declared that if Japan Gulch could be cleaned up so that the water there was again pure he would favor discontinuation of chlorination, but until that was done he wanted the protective measure to stay.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar opposed putting the issue in the form of a money by-law because it would prohibit a large section of the electorate from voting, and he pointed out they were entitled to a say in the chlorination issue, too.

Ald. Diggon immediately amended his motion to ask that a referendum be submitted at the December civic elections instead. Mayor Percy George, while favoring the idea, at first ruled the second amendment out of order on the grounds that it had no bearing on the committee recommendation.

After consultation with M. F. Hunter, city clerk, and city solicitor A. J. Patton, he decided to accept the proposed amendment and put it to a vote.

Ald. Williams charged that if the amendment carried "the people will know that we are reversing our former stand." He pointed out, in answer to a question from Ald. Dewar, that in the interim between now and December, War Assets Corporation could sell the equipment to some other city, or raise the price above the $6,887 which it is now prepared to accept.

Put Money By-laws For Streets, Sewers, Lights and Drains

City officials were instructed by Monday's city council meeting to proceed immediately with preparation of money by-laws to cover expenditures on work necessary on streets, sewers, surface drains, and water works extensions and improvements.

Ald. F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the electric light committee, asked that his $100,000 program for residential street lighting be included also.

A grant of $100 was given to the Toastmasters Clubs here to help with expenses in connection with the visit of between 300 and 400 delegates from the international conference in Seattle July 25.

The contract to print the city's annual report was awarded Diggon-Hibben Ltd., at a cost of $425 a page.

Approval was given to having city cheques under $25,000 signed by a cheque-signing machine. Ismay, Bolton, Dunn and Co. were appointed auditors for the Greater Victoria school district. Mayor Percy George pointed out that this appointment would have to be ratified by the other three municipalities in the school district.

Sale of 27 parcels of land, seven of them to veterans, at a total cost of $12,918.50, was approved.

The question of leasing approximately half an acre of Gorge Park, immediately west of Tillicum Road to J. W. Miller so that he can set up a canoe-rental business, was referred back to the parks committee for clarification.

Ald. B. J. Gadsden wanted to know if the letting of the concession would give Saanich the right to tax the city for the park property.

The installation of a four-inch main at Bryden Court in Esquimalt, at a cost of $1,250 was approved. The city will pay $833.33 of this cost.

The Civil Defence Guild, Post No. 5, asked the city to undertake the cost of moving a hutment from Tillicum Road camp to the lot at the corner of Kings and Rose Street, and having it set up for use as a recreation centre by the Guild.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, said it would cost approximately $1,500 to do the work.

Ald. Mulliner was in favor of giving the Guild $1,000 and letting them have the work done themselves.

Ald. H. M. Diggon opposed this as "a dangerous precedent," and the matter was referred to the public works committee.

The request from the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council that members be permitted to inspect Greater Victoria schools to ascertain if they constitute fire hazards was referred to the school board.

Refuse $30,000 Fund For Airport; Hold It For Waterworks

After considerable discussion at Monday's city council meeting, the establishment of an airport at Gordon Head according to the plans presented by Ald. B. J. Gadsden, Greater Victoria airport committee chairman, was approved, but the council refused to earmark the $30,000 postwar reserve fund for airport purposes, referring this matter to the finance committee.

Ald. H. M. Diggon presented the resolution asking that $30,000 be reserved for the purpose of developing a civilian airport, either by the city itself, or in conjunction with the other municipalities in the area.

Ald. J. A. Worthington and Mayor Percy George both opposed this move strongly, pointing out that there was every reason to believe the city might have more need of the money for other purposes, such as waterworks, before an airport could be built.

NEED OF WATERWORKS

Ald. Worthington stressed that while the $107,000 for new mains was to be put to the electors in the form of a money by-law, if it should be turned down, the city council would then have to find at least a portion of the money from revenue or reserve sources because the needs of the waterworks are so desperate that the work must be done regardless, if the city's water supply is to continue.

Mayor Percy George also emphasized the importance of keeping a reserve for waterworks purposes. The situation has got so bad now, he told the council, that when he attended meetings in Saanich, he was informed that the city was holding up development of that municipality by refusing to let it have sufficient water for its purposes. "We have left maintenance to the eleventh hour," the mayor declared, "and dare not take any more chances."

Ald. Diggon urged the necessity of airport development so that Victoria could keep pace with the rest of the continent and provide a landing field for private aircraft which, he forecast, would be operated by American tourists. He pointed out that the waterworks department had had ample opportunity in the past to set up a depreciation fund to take care of its work instead of putting all its revenue into the general fund to keep down the mill rate.

Ald. Edward Williams wanted the matter left to the finance committee until it was seen that the other municipalities were prepared to do their share and shoulder part of the burden of developing an airport.

Ald. Gadsden displayed a contour map of the proposed airport site, with plans for the landing strips and flightways shown.

Ald. Worthington immediately wanted to know if Saanich was prepared to approve the site, which lies largely in that municipality, pointing out that conflicting reports were constantly coming out as to the stand being taken by residents of that municipality.

Ald. W. L. Morgan questioned if it would not be preferable to get permission to use Pat Bay airport rather than coming in so close to the city.

asked to extend the option giving the city the right of first purchase on the tract of land the company owns in Oak Bay, which is part of the proposed site.

Tax By-laws Pass As Council Adds $5,500 to Budget

With the mill rate already set at 42 mills, city council Monday afternoon went into estimates committee for a short time to clean up four items which had been left standing in the rush to get everything cleaned up in one sitting last Tuesday.

A new car for the city engineer costing $1,500, the raising of the grant for the publicity bureau from $7,500 to $12,000, the purchase of chlorination plant and equipment at a cost of $7,000, and cost of living bonuses for civic employees, $94,000 were all approved.

Ald. J. A. Worthington made his annual protest against giving cost of living bonus to employees and officials who received more than $350 a month, contending they did not need the bonus. His motion was defeated, with only himself and Ald. B. J. Gadsden supporting the move.

D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, pointed out that the council had added another $5,500 to the budget which could be taken care of by using the former surplus of $2,900 which they had left, increasing the estimate of revenue from bicycle licenses by $1,000, and reducing the reserve for contingencies by $1,600. His suggestions were adopted by the council.

First reading of the tax by-law setting the mill rate went through. School expenditures will take 11.92 mills, general

City Parking Lot To Be Developed

The city will develop city-owned property at the corner of Cormorant and Blanshard Streets into a parking lot, it was decided at Monday's city council meeting, as one of the first steps to meet the growing problem of where to park cars in the downtown area.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the lands committee, moved the resolution to turn the lot over to the public works committee for development as a parking lot.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, declared that the lot, which he estimated could be used to park over 200 cars, is in disgraceful condition. He said that approximately 15 to 20 cars park there daily at the present time.

He suggested that it would produce revenue for the city when the arena is built.

purposes 23.82 mills, and debt charges 6.25 mills. First reading was also given the boulevard and cluster light tax by-laws, and the expenditure by-law.

"LIFE'S BIGGER MOMENTS"

"I give, devise, and bequeath"

"All right, suppose you were making out your will this very moment. Would your estate—minus taxes, funeral expenses and bills—provide enough to keep your home a going concern? A fellow can't expect his wife to maintain a home and educate his children on a few hundred dollars, his old top hat and favourite shotgun. He has to get some bulk to his estate."

Yes, it is one of those moments when most men face facts with a bit of a jolt. It's the sort of thing that suggests a quick telephone call for help from the North American Life representative. He's the fellow who can show you how to guarantee an income to your wife if you should die tomorrow... or an income for both of you when you want to quit working.

Gyros Learn Of Whale Hunting Off B.C. Coast

Whaling ships and their equipment, types of whales and the method of hunting them off the B.C. coast, were the subject of a talk given by Art Saunders at a luncheon meeting of the Gyro Club in Empress Hotel Monday.

Mr. Saunders, general superintendent at the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd., spent a season on a whaling expedition some years ago.

Most whaling vessels, he said, were approximately 90 feet in length, with steam power giving them a speed of from 10 to 12 knots. A muzzle-loading harpoon gun was the weapon used against the whale.

The gun fired a harpoon which weighed about 120 pounds and carried a two and a quarter inch Manila rope as a line, he said. A steam winch acts as the reel for the line which is carried in a locker below the gun.

The harpoon itself is made up in three parts: a shaft, a head with four barbs which open up after striking the whale, and a bomb on the head which explodes its one and a half pounds of black powder after it pierces the whale.

The average whaler carries a stock of 20 of these harpoons and sometimes as many as five are fired into a whale in bringing it into the ship's side. Harpoons are used to kill the whale once it is brought in. However, the whale is sometimes killed by the harpoon and he may die on the surface or deep in the ocean, in which latter case his great weight entails a considerable amount of work in bringing him to the surface.

TYPES OF WHALES
Whales range in size from the 25-foot killer whale to the blue whale, which has been found over 125 feet in length. However, Mr. Saunders said, on this coast the blue whale, of from 85 to 90 feet, is good.

The sperm whale exists on a different diet to other whales and consumes larger sea-life such as squids and devil fish. The sperm was easy to hunt, Mr. Saunders said, as he was not afraid of and easy to approach.

The white or Greenland whale, Mr. Saunders said, is also easy to hunt but is not seen on this coast.

The finners were harder to hunt, Mr. Saunders continued, as they were fast, scary and resisted violently when attacked.

Humpback whales were once on this coast in large quantities, Mr. Saunders said.

Other types of whale were migratory, the sperm whale definitely so.

Main commercial products from whales are oil, which comes from almost all parts of the whales anatomy, and fertilizer, which is made by grinding up the portions of the whale remaining after the oil has been extracted.

Cameron Lumber Sale Denied By Director

Acquisition of the Cameron Lumber Co. of Victoria, large Victoria sawmill company with subsidiary logging and timber interests up-Island, by a new corporation, reportedly to be capitalized at $8,000,000, was denied here today by D. O. Cameron, head of the firm.

The new corporation, which it was reported was being formed here and which was planning also to acquire and operate the plants, timber holdings and businesses of the Sitka Spruce Lumber Co. Ltd. and the Hammond Cedar Co., has not purchased the Cameron Lumber Co., said Mr. Cameron.

He indicated, however, that he and members of his family would probably sell if a satisfactory offer were made.

Rumors of the impending incorporation of the new large sawmill and lumber manufacturing company had been heard at the Parliament Buildings, but the company has not yet been registered.

Consolidation Of Zone Law Complicated
City Solicitor A. J. Patton faces several months' hard work, in addition to his regular duties, to consolidate the city's zoning by-law and its 50 amendments into one understandable and coherent law which will explain adequately zoning in Victoria.

Last consolidation of the by-law was in 1929, and since that time 49 amendments have been finally passed, and number 50 is before the council at the present time.

Mr. Patton said that his job of consolidation was similar but on a smaller scale to that faced by the Legislature when they consolidate provincial laws every 10 years.

There is a possibility that outside help may be called in to aid in the job.

Warning Issued New Businesses Must Have License

A warning was issued today by the city trades license department to rooming housekeepers who are renting more than two rooms, to doctors, dentists and lawyers just opening offices, and to men setting up small businesses as home occupations that they must take out a trades license.

An increasing number of men, particularly those coming out of the forces, are opening up businesses for themselves and failing to take out trades license, which renders them liable for a fine up to $100.

In the majority of instances, tax officials said, they had found that the men did not realize they were liable for the tax.

Where it is proposed that a business, even a small repair business, be set up as a home occupation in a residential area it is first necessary to get permission from the Zoning Board of Appeal, and following granting of such permission take out a trades license.

Several prosecutions are pending, officials said, and as fast as delinquents are found they will be given an opportunity to pay, failing which they will be brought into court.

Artists Ask By-law Change
The Federation of Canadian Artists has requested that the trades license by-law be amended so the organization may hold a continuous exhibition in Victoria of paintings and other works of art without having to pay the present fee of $20 per day.

The federation suggests that it should pay a license fee of $10 each half-year for the privilege, and be permitted to charge a 25 cent entrance fee to the exhibitions to pay operating costs.

A. J. Patton, city solicitor, stated to the council today that the amendment to the by-law could be made quite easily by the addition of another clause covering this type of exhibition.

The Anti-Vivisection Society has asked the city council for information on how many vaccinations were given in Victoria during the recent campaign, how much the doctors were paid, and total cost to the taxpayers.

Dominoes Open Play For Canadian Title

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two-sided but far from overconfident teams will square off tonight in the opening game of the 1946 Canadian senior A basketball championship series—a best-of-five contest between Victoria Dominoes and Assumption College of Windsor.

Both squads ran through light
workouts last night at Kennedy College gymnasium, site of the first three games of the series,
and pronounced themselves
"rarin' to go."

Coach Stanley (Red) Nantais
of the collegians admitted he was pleased with his team's showing during the workout but pointed out cautiously they had been idle
since winning the eastern Canada
title two weeks ago.

Coach George (Porky) Andrews of Victoria then had his say, and while conceding his team was in "swell shape" he hastened to add "being on a foreign floor, my team definitely will be the underdogs in the series which will really produce some topnotch basketball."

Assumption will not be at full strength for the opening game as star forward Bill Coulthard is down with a throat infection. He will be replaced by Tommy White.
In the first clash, and Coach Nan-tais indicated he will miss the tall, lean set-shot artist. His absence will make for "tough going," he said.

DOMINOES LOOK GOOD

Dominoes, who took the floor
after the Assumption drill looked good and had their eye well in on the Kennedy basketers.

For two of them—Art Chapman and Chuck Chapman—the Kennedy gym brought back sad memories of the 1936 final when,
with another Dominoes team,
they lost out to Windsor Fords in the Dominion finals on the same floor in three straight games.

Coach Andrews said Henry (Hank) Rowe was a possible non-starter in tonight's game since he was confined to bed all day yesterday. But he was pinning his hopes on the tall boy being in the starting line-up just the same.

Probable line-ups for tonight's game:

Victoria—Norman Baker,
Busher Jackson, Art Chapman, Chuck Chapman, George Andrews, Allen Wright, George Strath, Henry Rowe and Ian Mc-Keachie.

Windsor—Freddie Thomas,
Gino Savran, Ado Roral, Ralt
Wade, Tommy White, Pete
Mudry, Tony Lipsky, Chuck Tolmie and Harold Williams.

Officials—Henry Collins and George Dufoa, both of Detroit.

The achievements of teams
wearing the uniforms of the K.V.'s club in basketball during the 1945-46 season received high praise at the annual season's

Fifty players, managers, coaches, club and league officials and others attending the Victoria

terms of the manner in which the club was fostering sport in the ranks of youth.

Also heard were Len Wood-

Ed Whyte and President Murray
Turner. K.V.'s Majorettes, George Stewart, Les Excell and Bob Tuthill were among others present. Bert Simpson, secre-

on the past season in basketball,
last year's fastball operations
and this year's aims in fastball.
Entertainment wound up the

Flying 'Y' Track Workout Draws Good Attendance

Coach Archie McKinnon got his first glimpse of some of the material which will sport the colors of the Flying 'Y' track and field team in the 1946 competitions Saturday at the Victoria High School grounds when 20 athletes turned out for the first outdoor spring tuning-up session.

Had the weather been more favorable, McKinnon is sure there would have been a larger attendance. He announces a training schedule that amounts to a three-day-a-week grind—
Saturday afternoons at the High School, Tuesday and Thursday nights at 6 at the Y.M.C.A.

Next practice, therefore, is tonight, when the coach is looking for a considerably augmented force stripped for action. He is anxious to see any boy or girl over 15 years in the greater city who is interested in track and field at either the Y.M.C.A.
or the High School sessions.

Among those who turned out Saturday was Hal Beasley, Olympic runner star of yesteryear,
who is going to lend a valuable helping hand on grooming the current crop of runners. Among others present were Pat Fleming, junior high school jumping champion; Frank Collier and George Muttelbury, javelin and shot heavers.

Neil Craig headed a group of middle-distance runners.
The sprinters took good care not to overdo it and confined themselves to limbering up and jogging. Bill Troup, senior winner of the Legion Good Friday road races, and his younger brother, Ken, were on hand and looked in better shape than many. Cliff Salmon, intermediate winner of the Easter road grind, "was prancing around like a long-legged colt," says McKinnon.

Bill Morry, Spike Dalziel, Jim Wright, John Duncan, Bert Thir-
well, Bob Sam, Austin Smith,
John Lauder, Nigel Nixon, Pat Hodgins and Don Wilson were also cutting up the turf with their spikes.

Coach McKinnon reports that the well-known Bruce Humber will attend each Tuesday night
when he will take over the sprinters. He will also be present for the Thursday night period. The sprint team will undoubtedly find him a great asset.

Official entry forms are on hand for the Canadian championships in Hamilton July 6. Andrew Gillespie, attending McGill, has already notified McKinnon

he is staying east to represent the "Y" in the meet.

McKinnon would like nothing better than to be able to send a few other of his "Y" team members east for the big meet—but notes that financing the scheme would probably be the obstacle in the way of achieving such an ambition.

Rifle Club May Join B.C. Group

Cecil Burgess and Bonnie Ward registered top scores in the Vancouver Island Rifle and Gun Club shoot held Sunday under wet conditions.

Attending the meet were British Columbia Rifle Association
officials who extended an invitation to the local club to affiliate with the provincial body.
This will be decided at a general meeting Tuesday night at 8,
May 7.

Next event on the club agenda is a gypsy tour topped by a clambake, all those planning to take part to be at the clubhouse
by 10:30 next Sunday morning.

Washington Ball Club Charged Unfair to Organized Labor

BOSTON (AP)—Charges of unfair labor practices have been made against the Washington American League baseball club
by the American Baseball Guild, director Robert Murphy of Boston said Monday night.

A copy of the charges, listed as "Case No. 5C-2081" by the Baltimore district national labor relations board, where the charge was filed, said: "On or about larly by Clark C. Griffith, its

Simon-Pure Ball League Opens May 8

Senior amateur baseballers will make their season's debut before Victoria fans a week tomorrow at the greatly improved Athletic Park, it was decided Sunday at a meeting of the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association.

The league this year is a four-club circuit and the opening encounter will see Victoria Machinery Depot, last season's city and league champs, opposing Eagles. Next game is slated for May 10, with Navy and Canadian Legion meeting. All clubs will show in a double-header Saturday, May 11.

The park will be available to the amateurs when the Victoria Athletics, pro entry in the W.I.L.
are on the road. All evening games start at 6:30, matinee attractions at 2:30.

The league will seek as many
out-of-town games as possible.
Teams will play up-island nines,
and games with Vancouver and Port Angeles on local soil and away are being sought. The league is interested in showing its All-stars against barnstorming clubs.

McGavin Cup is the league trophy and the Rithet-Cup is the prize in the playoffs for the city title.

Eagles Soccerites Share B.C. Title

While they did not win anything outright, a pair of soccer teams of the local juvenile leagues sponsored by the Eagles journeyed to Vancouver over the week-end and collected a 50-50
split in a British-Columbia championship in two tries for provincial crowns.

It was the Eagles' fourth division eleven which made the best showing against Vancouver's kingspins of that division. They battled the Royal Taxis to a no-score draw after an overtime struggle. The result of the scoreless draw gives the Victorians and Vancouverites the silverware that is emblematic of the championship for six months apiece.

Third division Eagles found things considerably tougher in their battle with Marpoles. The final score in this engagement read 4 to 0 in favor of the Vancouver unit, to give them the championship.

Professional baseball returns to Victoria tonight when the local Athletics make their first home stand in the Western International League against Tacoma Tigers at the Athletic Park. Starting time is 8 with pre-game ceremonies featuring the appearance of Acting P. E.
C. Carson, Mayor George and U.S.
Consul Troy L. Perkins scheduled to get under way half an hour earlier.

Returning at noon yesterday
from opening the season in Wenatchee, where they won one game in four, members of the Athletics were out at the park
last night for a lengthy workout. Players expressed themselves quite satisfied with the grounds, but asked for a few minor changes in the infield, especially around the pitching
mound and base paths.

Workout attracted a crowd of close to 1,000 who showed keen interest in the batting practice and infield drill. There was considerable enthusiasm displayed when the lighting equipment was turned on for the first time. Work of focusing the lights continued until late in the evening and everything will be shipshape for the opener. Owing to daylight saving it is possible the first few innings will be played under twilight.

FERRARA PITCHES

Manager Laurel Harney announced, following the workout, that Tony Ferrara would be his pitching selection for tonight.
Ferrara dropped a 4 to 3 decision to Wenatchee in his first start last Friday night. That was his first nine-inning chore this season. His battery mate will be either Les Mulchay, who has done all the receiving for the Athletics to date, or Ken Myers, newly-signed backstop. Myers a former member of the Sacramento and Spokane clubs, looked good in the workout last night but still is not rid of all his traveling stiffness.

Remainder of the Victoria line-up will be the same that went up against Wenatchee with Manager Harney still not definite about third base. Ian Lowe opened the season at the hot corner to be replaced early in Sunday's first game by Bob Koenigs of Seattle who held down the job in the second tilt
on the Sabbath.

In Tacoma the Athletics are certain to run up against stiff opposition. The Tigers lifted the odd game in three against Bremerton last week-end and there is every indication the Washington club is out to strengthen its position in the circuit at the expense of Victoria.

Tonight's game marks the opening of a seven-game series.
Athletics and Tigers will engage in a doubleheader tomorrow, starting at 2:30 and 8, play single night games Thursday and Friday and come back with another pair Saturday at 2:30 and 8. The Athletics will then go back on the road for a seven-game series
at Yakima, opening May 7.

Visitor to City

Dan Doswell, former local athletic star, especially in English rugby, whose job in the motor carrier branch of the B.C.
Utilities Commission takes him
to all corners of the province, dropped into the Times office to pass on his "hellos" to old friends during a business visit to the city yesterday.

Doswell has resided in Vancouver for a couple of years and in the season just past, Victoria English rugby players and officials came in contact with him
as coach of the Varsity Thunderbirds in "Big Three" McKechnie Cup competition, which wound up in a three-way tie.

Women Will Defend Golf Brooches Sunday

Mrs. J. H. Todd and Mrs.
M. Todd-Fidney, holders of the E. D. Todd Vancouver Island perpetual challenge women's four-ball golf brooches, will play the first match in defence of the brooches on Sunday, May 5,
at 2, at Victoria Golf Club.
Their opponents will be Mrs.
E. Jackson and Mrs. A.
Dowell of Uplands Golf Club.

Hedlunds Take Opening Battle With Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Vancouver Hedlunds, pointing toward their fifth consecutive Canadian women's senior basketball title, will oppose Winnipeg "Pegs" 42 to 17 here Monday night in the first game of a best-of-five series for the western Canada championship.

The smooth-working Hedlunds stepped into a scant 9-to-6 lead in the first quarter, but from there on outplayed the hard-fighting "Pegs" by a considerable margin. They added 11 more in a second quarter while the Manitoba champions went scoreless, were outscored 7 to 9 in the third, which ended 27 to 15, and then broke out again in the final 10 minutes for 15 more points while "Pegs" best effort brought only two.

Rita Bell led the Vancouver squad's scorers, tallying a total of 15 points with Kay Watson adding another 10. Lenore Cuthbert led the losers with seven and Sylvia Ferris had three.

Local Swimmers Get American Medallion

Victoria's Flying "Y" Swiming Club's fair sex water champions who participated in the U.S.
Women's open swimming championships meet in Seattle recently have been awarded honors for their showing in the competitions.

Coach Archie McKinnon reported today receipt of a medallion from Seattle which is symbolic of third-place honors in the 200-yard junior open relay event, Ina Salmon, club captain,
and Joan Morgan, Aileen Smyth
and Leslie Rimmer, making up the local team.

Originally the Athens Club of Oakland was registered in this place, but they have since been disqualified owing to a breach of the rules. The event had no age limit, but specified that no performer who had previously won a national honor could take part. Apparently the American club's team make-up violated this ruling so the award came to Victoria.

In the memory of McKinnon
this is the first time a Victoria
"Y" team has made the honors
grade in an American national classic.

GLADSTONE CHANGED HIS MIND ABOUT BIG PROBLEMS

Living at the same time as Disraeli was another statesman of importance—William Gladstone.

Gladstone was "a Scotsman born in England."

Going to school at Eton and Oxford, he seemed to be marked out for public life. He was one of the best students at Oxford, and showed skill in debating.

Each time he debated, Gladstone took the Tory side. The spirit of reform had broken loose in Great Britain, and this brilliant youth felt that he must keep changes from taking place.

Powerful men learned about this Oxford student who was so clever, and who always spoke for the Tory side. They decided he would be a good member of the British Parliament.

With the help of those powerful men, Gladstone won a seat in parliament when he was only 23 years old. The British lawmakers heard a strong and pleasing voice.

Several years later, Gladstone was chosen in the cabinet of Sir Robert Peel. He served as Secretary of State for the Colonies, and later as Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Gladstone gave deeper study to many problems, and changed his mind about what was best for the country. He decided that Great Britain should do away with tariff taxes. He came to feel that more persons should have the right to vote. He declared that boys and girls should have free public schools.

Gladstone's old friends in the Tory party lost interest in him, or became angry. No longer would they help him to rise in office.

Gladstone struck out boldly for the things he believed right, and came to be known as a champion of the poor. He was elected to the House of Commons time after time. At the age of 58, he started his first term as prime minister. Disraeli was now the powerful Tory leader, and the two men had sharp debates. Both were brilliant, and both held office of prime minister several times.

Gladstone won many of his battles, but this struggle for "home rule for Ireland" failed. He died at the age of 88.

Jewellers to Endow
$100,000 Fund For Canadian Institute
Plans for a $100,000 endowment of a new organization known as the Canadian Jewellers Institute were reviewed in Victoria today
by Robert E. Day, Toronto, president of the Canadian Jewellers' Association, and president of the Bulova Watch Co. of Canada,
who is staying at the Empress Hotel.
Mr. Day is accompanied by Adam Purves, Hamilton, a director of the association and chairman of that organization's rehabilitation committee, and Walter H. Perkins, association director, also of Hamilton.
The new institute is planned
to give training in silversmithing, watchmaking and gem-setting
here in Canada instead of, as hitherto, turning to Europe for trained craftsmen in these lines.
The endowment fund will be raised entirely within the jewellers'
trade.
The institute will grant certificates to qualified men in all parts of Canada, and a nation-wide board of examiners is now being appointed to bring this program of certification within reach of every working craftsman.

Packers, Retailers Uncertain About Next Week's Beef Supply

Still shrouded in mystery is the amount of beef that Victorians can expect in the city next week. In the meantime it is available at some retail meat dealers but in small quantities.

Manager of one branch packing house here said he felt the situation would be better next week since cattle were being bought and killed on the prairies. However, representatives of other packing houses state they have had no word from their head offices as to when they can expect shipments. They have had no official word of cattle being killed at prairie points, they say.

In the meantime, retailers continue to act as buffers between a beef-hungry public and the packers. Some dealers are closing all day Wednesday and others are having shorter hours of business.

In a canvass of meat markets today in widely scattered areas of Victoria, the situation was as follows:

J. C. Stuart of Stuart's Meat Market, 1402 Douglas: "We have a small quantity of beef and will be open today but expect to close some afternoons early. We have no definite word on supplies and if a settlement is not reached things are not going to be so good."

Joe Windle of Smith's Meat Market, 192 Menzies: "We have some chickens and cooked meats but have had no beef from the packers this week. We will be closed all day Wednesday and possibly Thursday."

Edward Harvey of Harvey's Meat Market, 2709 Quadra: "We have enough meat to carry on today, but will not open at all Wednesday, owing to the shortage. We have some beef in today and will be open the rest of the week."

T. C. Clarke of Clarke's Meat Market, 1161 Newport: "I have enough meat for a few days including beef but don't know about supplies for the end of the week."

P. W. Smooty, Oak Bay Meat Market, 1970 Oak Bay: "We are selling beef bought last week, also pork, lamb and veal, and expect to be open all week. We will have enough meat for our regular trade."

Tram Passing Law Broken Too Often
If a streetcar is about to stop, motorists driving behind them must stop, Magistrate Henry C. Hall commented in city police court today in fining a man $10 for driving past a tram.

"Hardly a day passes in which drivers do not break this law," the magistrate said.

"Most drivers seem to think that if the streetcar has not stopped, they can sneak past. This is not so. If the streetcar is about to stop, the motorist must bring his car to a stop."

Manslaughter Verdict in Nanaimo Death
After hearing evidence at an inquest at Nanaimo Monday afternoon in the death of 60-year-old John Robert Hudson, a plumber, who died following a fracas in the downtown district of the up-island town last Thursday night, a coroner's jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter.

Mrs. A. Watson testified at the inquest that she saw the elder Hudson emerge from a beer parlor on Thursday night, and shortly after his son George came out. They wrestled for some time, she said.

John Hudson, 28, another son, told the jury his father and brother had quarreled in the beer parlor and that his father had invited his brother outside "to settle things."

"I did not see whether George struck dad or pushed him, but he staggered back, fell, and hit his head," the older son testified.

Graves locations in northwest Europe are: Beny-Sur-Mer, overlooking the D-Day invasion beaches; Breteville-Sur-Laizre, overlooking the Falaise Pocket battlefield; Haurot-Sur-Mer, near Dieppe, scene of the 1942 raid by Canadians; Leubringen, Calais, between Calais and Boulogne; Adegem, halfway between Bruges and Ghent in Belgium; Bergen-op-Zoom, a short distance from the historic city of the same name and not far across the Holland border; Nijmegen, overlooking the Hochwald Forest; Holten, 12 miles east of Deventer on the main highway to Hengelo.

In Sicily the Canadian cemetery is at Agira, a memorable battlefield. And there is the cemetery in Italy near Ortona, the city that fell to the heavy assault by the Canadians in December of 1943.

Over the route of the heavy fighting in World War II, in the Mediterranean theatre of Sicily and Italy and the Northwest Europe theatre through France, Belgium, Holland and Germany during the period of July 10, 1943, to "cease fire" day, May 5, 1945, many thousands of Canadian soldiers and airmen paid the supreme sacrifice and from Ottawa today comes word of the localities of their final resting places.

Today these same heroes who gave their lives to stamp out Nazism sleep their long sleep in beautiful and carefully-tended burial plots not far from where they fell.

Ten cemeteries, one in Sicily, one in Italy, four in northern France, one in Belgium and three in Holland, remain forever a part of Canada. Locations were carefully studied. Eventually all cemeteries will be handed over to the care of the Imperial War Graves Commission, under Maj.-Gen. J. H. Roberts, D.S.O., M.C., a Canadian who is chief administrative officer of the Central European District, I.W.G.C.

Conditions Excellent In B.C. For Bumper Fruit Crop This Year

British Columbia Agriculture Department officials, while not wanting to go out on a limb by predicting the greatest fruit crop in history, are of the opinion that conditions to date are excellent and a record crop may be harvested this summer and fall.

While the season had earlier been reported as ahead of average, actually it is about average or slightly later than usual in the Okanagan Valley, largest fruit-producing area of the province. Peaches, apricots and cherries are now in bloom or passing the bloom period in the Okanagan and other interior orchard areas, while blossoms of apples and other later fruits are expected to reach a peak about May 10.

There have been some frosts in the interior but they have not done much damage.

A record crop means that the apple pick will have to exceed 8,500,000 boxes, the Okanagan Valley's greatest harvest made in 1944. Last year the apple pick was about average at 5,500,000 boxes.

Disease conditions are reported good in the Okanagan, with new war-developed sprays, including DDT, having been used to control the codling moth, which for years has been the greatest disease-threat to apple production. While it had been hoped to use aircraft in orchard-spraying this year, none has been available.

Use of DDT and other potent insecticides had caused problems. Mixture sprays used in the past had controlled mites as well as the codling moth. DDT controls only the codling moth.

By using another spray or possible development of a substance to spray on the fruit trees at the same time as DDT, it is hoped that the mites will be controlled as effectively as the codling moth.

As yet no control has been developed for the virus disease known as "little cherry," which is expected to take a heavy toll on the cherry crop in the Kootenays this year. So far as is known, this particular affliction is not common in any other part of the world.

So far "little cherry" has been confined to the Kootenay cherry orchards, but there is fear that it will spread to other areas.

"Little cherry" does not make the crop unmarketable. Cherries with this disease can be sold for processing but do not meet the requirements for the fresh-cherry market.

CAPITOL — Ray Millard and Paulette Goddard in "Kitty."

DOMINION — Dennis O'Keefe and Carmen Miranda in "Doll Face."

CAPITOL THEATRE

Paulette Goddard is an 18th century English fashion show in Paramount's "Kitty," currently at the Capitol Theatre.

Included in her 26 changes of costume are every type of dress worn by women of that period, even to a maternity gown.

She wears, in order, the filthy rags of a Houndsditch slum wif, the soft folds of an artist's model, a housemaid's uniform, morning, afternoon and evening gowns, an elaborate and costly bridal outfit, several different house dresses, widow's weeds, a super-elegant formal ball dress.

ATLAS THEATRE

A gay three-cornered romance is developed in RKO Radio's romantic comedy, "Those Endearing Young Charms," starring Robert Young and Laraine Day, with Ann Harding and Bill Williams featured, which is now at the Atlas Theatre.

Williams, in love with Miss Day, rashly introduces her to his old friend, Young, an accomplished lady-killer. The girl is swept off her feet, much to the mortification of Williams and the girl's mother, Ann Harding, until Young is completely tamed.

British Columbians Respond to Appeal For Victory Gardens

A good response to the British Columbia government's "Fight Famine With Food" campaign was reported today by Dr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, who said it was his personal opinion that the appeal had received a strong response in cities and suburbs.

Dr. Munro said he believed that victory gardens would overcome or assist in meeting many of the food shortages or near shortages in British Columbia this year.

While no statistics are available, Dr. Munro said he believed that 1,000 more acres of potatoes would be planted in the province this year than last year.

The provincial government had urged the increased acreage to meet the anticipated demand next winter and spring and to alleviate a shortage now. In part the shortage has been met by importations from the United States.

The government had appealed to British Columbians to plant victory gardens this year to help provide more foodstuffs for the starving of Europe and Asia.

Evidence that the populace was responding to the appeal has been seen in the number of vacant lots and backyards which have been plowed up or dug this spring. Many of them have already been planted.

The spring, however, in the opinion of Dr. Munro, is two weeks later than usual. Some farmers on the island and mainland still fear frost.

Mrs. K. N. Sparks Saanich Secretary

In its first meeting since the reorganization of school districts under the Cameron system, the Saanich School Board No. 63 at Mount Newton High School Monday night discussed details of organization, named committees, and appointed Mrs. K. N. Sparks secretary until the end of the year.

An office will be established in the Orange Hall at Saanich for the time being, and board members will make a tour next month of the schools which they administer.

Members of the new board are Chairman Martin Nelson, Mrs. E. M. Bryce and E. C. Head, all of the old Saanich Board of School trustees; Neil MacNaughton, James Island where the school until now has been operated by Canadian Industries Ltd.; W. J. Baker, R. A. Sansbury and Miss Ruby Simpson, all of the old North Saanich board.

Mrs. Bryce, Miss Simpson and Mr. MacNaughton were selected for the education committee with Mrs. Bryce as chairman; Mr. Nelson and Mr. Baker will form the finance committee; Mr. Sansbury and Mr. Head will look after works, grounds, buildings and maintenance.

It was reported that three Mills Road army huts had been purchased through the Saanich Peninsula branch of the Canadian Legion. One will be used at Sidney for a recreation hall, another at Deep Cove for an emergency classroom, and the third at North Saanich for a manual training room.

Anti-Vivisection Work

The Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society, from the proceeds of its recent birthday celebration, has made donations to eight societies in Britain, Northern Ireland, Italy and North Africa, to aid war suffering animals.

The city council has been asked for information relative to the recent smallpox scare.

The Bureau International Humanitaire Zoonoses, Geneva, which suspended activities during the war, is reopening and Miss Dora Kito has been asked to act as a vice-president.

Victoria Station Seeks FM Radio

A return tabled in the House of Commons at Ottawa Monday gave a list of 64 Canadian radio stations, including CJVI, Island Broadcasting Company Ltd., Victoria, which had applied for frequency modulation permits.

The information, supplied by Reconstruction Minister Howe, disclosed that no licenses had been granted for frequency modulation, nor had 18 fog television permits and 19 facsimile reproduction permits sought by Canadian stations been granted.

Symphony Orchestra Closes Season With Memorable Concert

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

A memorable concert marked the close of the fifth season of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra Monday night in Victoria. High School Auditorium. A brilliant performance by the orchestra under its conductor, Melvin Knudsen, the presentation of one of Canada's outstanding dramatic tenors, John Beadell, as guest soloist, and the first performance of a new suite for orchestra, conducted by the composer, Dr. William Raven, were among the highlights.

The opening overture, Offenbach's enchanting "Orpheus," electrified the audience and there was no lag in their enthusiasm from then on.

The symphony chosen for this occasion was the Hydn D Major, the "London," from the so-called Saloman group of 12. This finely articulated work, with its lovely Andante and winged final Allegro, was given an interpretation that explored the composition in its widest dimensions and was alive because it had been studied with sincerity and understanding.

SATISFYING NUMBER

The evening's most satisfying performance, from an orchestral point of view, however, was the Bach-Abert "Prelude, Choral and Fugue." The singing of the choral by the brass was stirring, the tone, full, rich and true. The majesty of the Fugue, taken from the famous Fantasia and Fugue in G minor for organ, is enhanced in this arrangement. The intricate polyphonic structure was skilfully handled as section after section of the orchestra was drawn into the vortex of pure, immortal music and swept on to a stirring climax.

Called to the stand to conduct the first performance of his "Suite for Orchestra," Dr. Raven received an enthusiastic reception. The Suite consists of five movements, of which "Chant Sans Paroles," "Serenade Italienne" and "Nocturne" were particularly delightful. His composition reveals a well-developed gift for invention, good melodic line and a broad conception of phrase with good rhythmic flow. These charming compositions have been dedicated to the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and Mr. Knudsen.

POSSESSES FINE VOICE

Mr. Beadell possesses one of the finest male voices to appear on local concert platforms this season. A dramatic tenor of great power, depth and richness of tone, he sang "Vesti la Giubba" and the recitative and aria from "Elijah," "If With All Your Hearts." His encore, also from "Elijah," was "Then Shall the Righteous Shine Forth." Mr.

Beadell, who has been making extensive tours throughout Canada and the United States has been justifiably called the "coming Richard Crooks" although the virility and emotional depth of his singing, his superb technique and artistry would already stand comparison with many of the best-known singers of the day.

A basket of spring flowers and a presentation was made to the concert mistress, Julia Hunt, who will leave the city shortly to reside in Vancouver.

Protest Possibility Of Navy Taking Over Staff House

Labelling the possible taking over of the Wartime Housing Ltd. Staff House No. 1 by the navy an "unfair action and gross injustice to the workers," Eric D. Pryah, acting deputy for the workers housed at the staff house, sought the help of Esquimalt council, in a letter read at the council meeting Monday night.

"We haven't heard anything about it," said Reeve Thomas Hadfield, adding, "We have no power in the matter."

He felt that Esquimalt could make no representation on the matter until the staff house was taken over. Mr. Pryah stated that it had been brought to the attention of the workers that Wartime Housing was negotiating with the Naval Department of National Defence on the taking over of the staff house.

"We would consider this action both unfair and unreasonable and a gross injustice to the workers now housed therein, as they are engaged in what we feel you will agree is priority work — shipyards, construction and work at the naval dockyard and drydock. Consequently housing must be provided for them," Mr. Pryah said.

NEW SCHOOL BOARD

Following receipt of a letter from G. H. Sedger, municipal solicitor, council agreed that $3,580, one-twelfth of the school board appropriations for the year, be paid to the secretary-treasurer of the Greater Victoria School District No. 61 without prejudice to take care of April payments falling due.

On recommendation of Police Chief Gilbert Stencombe, school zones will be put on Lampson Street in the vicinity of the pri-

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

CATALOGUE-IT IS
IN BETWEEN speaking engagements, showers of rain and what not—especially whatnot—I have been trying to get in a little gardening.
Not with much success, I admit. For my sort of gardening isn't as simple as it sounds.
I envy the sturdy soul who can plan months ahead on just where she will have this, that, and the other.
Who makes elaborate plans on paper and has the strength of mind to carry them out when the time comes to put them into operation—who can decide that this bed shall feature all pink flowers and that one nothing but tones of yellow.

A DITHERER
BUT I AM ONE of the ditherers. I go to someone's garden and see a riot of bloom and decide: "There, that's just what I have opposite the kitchen window."
Then a week or so later, something else catches my eye and bang go all my previous ideas!
I suffer from catalogue-itis, too. I pore ecstatically over garden books and catalogues with long Latin names for plants which I know only under their nicknames.
And I hover deliciously in stores over packets of seeds whose highly colored illustrations make my choice even more difficult.
Or I trot home with flats full of little plants which are guaranteed to provide super-duper blossoms—within about a week of planting.

GADGETS AND GIMMICKS
TO MAKE ASSURANCE DOUBLY SURE, we have invested in all kinds of garden gadgets by way of tools.
Mattocks and spades, hoes and trowels, rakes and cultivators—you'd think there would be enough to meet any emergency.
But no! As sure as ever I get to talking gardens with another enthusiast I find that all I lack to ensure perfection of result is another gimmick.
With this thingamabob or that whatyoumaycallit, everything would be easy—a cinch, nothing to it!
So, off I trot and add either a thingamabob or a whatyoumaycallit to what is becoming a museum collection of garden gadgets.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS
THEN, ARMED TO THE TEETH, I tackle the earth and put in my seeds which promise Colossus calendulas or Gigantica geums of breath-taking size and color.
And distribute my little plants with loving care and a prayer or two—to say nothing of a dirty-if-not-green thumb—give them a drink, and hope for results.

But, outside of nasturtiums and zinnias, the results have certainly not attained our great expectations.
As a wartime master of S. Princess Kathleen, he was awarded the M.B.E. "for more than two years of continuous service in dangerous waters." The Kathleen ran the gauntlet of air and submarine attack between Alexandria, Tobruk and other North African ports.
Capt. Barry also took the Kathleen on eight hazardous runs to the beleaguered island of Malta.

Before joining the Kathleen, Capt. Barry was on the Empress of Canada as chief officer when that ship carried Canadian troops on the Spitzbergen raid.
"Why, of course, you can't expect flowers like that unless you use Thingamabob's 'Fixmaster.' It's the only stuff. Just one application and it'll make everything grow six feet in a night!"

UNIVERSITY CADETS
Sailing From Here
On Training Cruise
Cmdr. A. W. Baker, R.C.N. (R) staff officer for university training under the direction of naval reserves at Ottawa, is in Esquimaux today to make final arrangements for naval trainees from five Canadian universities, including U.B.C., to go to sea May 7 aboard the frigate Charlotetown on the first of three summer cruises.

Plans for the cruises, which will represent Canada's first naval reserve training afloat since the end of the war, were announced by Cmdr. Baker. The cruises will probably be to Alaska and return. They are scheduled for May 7, May 23 and June 8.
Cmdr. Baker said: "This will be a major phase of postwar naval training. We expect to have 1,800 reservists across Canada."

This year, for the first time, 15 universities across Canada will have naval trainees in uniform on the campus. They will take 60 hours of naval instruction during the academic year and two weeks of training afloat.

Before the war, Cmdr. Baker was head of the department of animal biology at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.

Service representatives from all the United Nations will take part in the parade. The Dominion in the parade will be led by Canadian Army and R.C.A.F. personnel still in the United Kingdom.

Victoria at 2.30 in the afternoon, will make C.P.A.L. flights between here and Vancouver up to eight and give a service every 1½ hours from 9.45 in the morning to 8.15 in the evening each day. The additional flight leaves Vancouver for Victoria at 1.30 in the afternoon.

Yellowknife Holds Gain In Active Trading In Gold Shares

TORONTO (CP)—Mining shares had a flash of action in some cheaper gold stocks in the early afternoon, giving the market a moderately strong tone. Both mining groups and industrial shares closed narrowly higher and western oils were unchanged to slightly lower.

Discovery Yellowknife, a leader on the upward slant, advanced to 1.45 in heavy trading and held a net gain of about 15 cents around 1.35. Other strong junior golds on sizable turnover included Paskap, Nicholson, Athena, Conwest, Dickenson, Laguerre and Orlic.

In base metals, Smelters gained a fraction and Denison Nickel was up ½ cent.
